Origin

Stephen Strange was born in New York City to Eugene and Beverly Strange. His father was a surgeon and his mother was a nurse. Stephen was a brilliant student and excelled in his studies. He graduated from medical school at the top of his class and went on to become a successful neurosurgeon.

One day, Stephen was driving home from work when he was involved in a car accident. The accident left him with severe nerve damage in his hands, which ended his career as a surgeon. Desperate to find a way to heal his hands, Stephen traveled the world in search of a cure. He eventually found his way to the Himalayas, where he met the Ancient One, a powerful sorcerer who agreed to teach him the mystic arts.

Under the Ancient One's tutelage, Stephen became a master of the mystic arts and adopted the name Doctor Strange. He returned to New York City and opened a sanctum sanctorum, a place where he could practice magic and protect the Earth from magical threats.

Powers and Abilities
