Dill Pickles

No Southern pantry is complete without a jar of dill pickles. Simply Southern's Dill Pickles are made with fresh cucumbers and a blend of herbs and spices, creating a tangy and flavorful pickle that is perfect for sandwiches, salads, or as a side dish.

From Farm to Jar

Simply Southern Little Jars for Big Flavors are made with fresh, locally sourced ingredients to ensure the highest quality and authentic Southern taste. The fruits and vegetables used in the products are grown by local farmers in the American South, supporting the local agricultural economy and ensuring the freshest possible ingredients.

Once the ingredients are harvested, they are carefully inspected and washed before being processed. The fruits are then mashed or chopped, and the vegetables are cut or sliced. The ingredients are then combined with sugar, vinegar, and spices, and cooked until they reach the desired consistency.

The finished products are then poured into the signature Simply Southern Little Jars and sealed. Each jar is carefully labeled with the product name, ingredients, and nutritional information. The jars are then packaged and shipped to stores and distributors across the country.
